

Philip Trammell
+44 7955 144986
pawtrammell@gmail.com

EDUCATION

University of Oxford

DPhil Economics (Oct 2021 – Nov 2024 expected)

MPhil Economics (Oct 2019 – Jun 2021): Distinction, George Webb Medley prize for best MPhil thesis in economics

Brown University

AB Economics (Honors), AB Mathematics (Sep 2011 – May 2015): Magna cum laude (top 20% of class), Gordon Lindsay Prize for best undergraduate thesis in economics

SCHOLARSHIPS

Early Career Funding Program, Open Philanthropy (2023 – 2024)

Atkinson Scholarship, University of Oxford (2021 – 2023)

(Standard Oxford doctoral bursary offered; declined due to teaching requirements)

Global Priorities Fellowship, Forethought Foundation (2019 – 2021)

PUBLICATIONS

Fixed-Point Solutions to the Regress Problem in Normative Uncertainty (Synthese, 2021) [link]

WORKING PAPERS

Economic Growth under Transformative AI (with Anton Korinek) (NBER Working Paper 31815) [link]

Invited following revision at Annual Review of Economics.

Existential Risk and Growth (with Leopold Aschenbrenner) [link]

Dynamic Public Good Provision under Time Preference Heterogeneity [link]

Ethical Consumerism [link]

IN PROGRESS

New Products and Long-term Welfare

Weak Betweenness and Misleading Information

REFEREEING

Journal of Economic Dynamics and Control, Economics and Philosophy, Australasian Journal of Philosophy

AFFILIATIONS

Research Affiliate: Global Priorities Institute, University of Oxford

Management Committee: Patient Philanthropy Fund, Founders Pledge

PRESENTATIONS

ASSA Annual Meeting (Jan 2025 expected), MIT FutureTech Workshop on AI scaling and its Implications (Oct 2023),

Several instances of the Oxford Workshop on Global Priorities Research

TEACHING

Topics in Economic Theory and Global Prioritization (Aug – Sep 2022, Aug 2023):

Designed and taught a graduate-level course on topics in economic theory especially relevant to effective altruism.

Attended by two cohorts of 34 students, primarily graduate students in economics [materials, reviews].

Supported by the Forethought Foundation.